Our Seniors in 1983

I was looking forward to my trip around the world, via jet. When I arrived at Cleveland Hopkins airport, who did I see driving an airline limousine, but Paul David Hurd. He explained that this was just a part-time job, he writes a syndicate column for the New York Times. As I boarded the jet, I saw Milly Largent as an airline hostess, and who do you think the pilot was - none other than Roger.

My first stop was New York. While there I visited a night club. I caught sight of who the bunnies were, Kathy Monroe and Kathy Mullenax. As we talked a while they explained to me that Sue Stevens had got her real big chance, and was making a movie in Hollywood.

My next stop was Washington, D.C. I thought I would visit the White House while in Washington. When I arrived, I saw the President of the United States, Bill List. Who do you think was his Attorney General, Charles Lobenthal. Larry Sloan was doing okay for himself, he was in charge of the Armed Forces.

Time flew fast crossing the ocean. When I reached France, I was surprised to see Carol Smith. She had been working for a big firm there in France. When I stopped over at Italy, I made it in time for the Olympic games. When I saw Bill Lynch come in first for the mile run, I was excited. Then when Tom Marks won the championship for ping pong, I was even more surprised.

In a few days I was on my way again. I decided to stop off at Russia for a while. When I reached Russia, I attended a ballet performed by Nora Miller and found that Alan Eggleston was the Premier of Russia.

When I reached Darkest Africa, you'd never guess who I saw as a missionary, none other than David Hughes.

It took me a while to get to the Hawaiian Islands. I was enjoying a wonderful rest, and all of a sudden I saw Mary Rush doing a hula dance.

When I reached the states, I visited several ranches belonging to Judy Saxton. I stayed for a few days and she told me that her brother Jerry Saxton was running neck and neck with Stoney Burke for the champ bronco title.

After all my traveling I was on my way home. When I reached home, I found that little Steve Drotos is a big school teacher at Farmington Hgts. Cook Berg is taking a stab at farming. Lois Rowland doesn't get around much since she got married, and Catherine Cleer was just the opposite. Her husband is so henpecked that he stays home and watches the kids while she goes out.

Big John Schnacht finally made it to be the President of Grange. Poor Sandy Greene was still waiting nervously for Ron to come down from his space flight to the moon. I thought I'd get down to Cuba on my trip to see Diane Anthony, but I didn't make it.
